Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

- 1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
- 2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
- 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
- 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bohm et al (US 5,391, 811).

Bohm et al discloses the followings (see abstract page):

 α -fluoro- β -dicarbonyl compounds are prepared by reacting a halogenated dicarbonyl compound at temperatures of 20° to 100° C. with an addition product of hydrogen fluoride and a trialkylamine. This process is easy to carry out in technical terms and can also be carried out on a large scale.

Art Unit: 1625

A process for the preparation of α -fluoro- β -dicarbonyl compounds of formula (I):

in which

the two radicals A can be identical or different and are each alkyl, aryl, alkoxy, aryloxy or an amino group and

R is hydrogen, fluorine, alkyl or aryl, has now been found which is characterised in that a dicarbonyl compound of formula (II):

in which 60

X is chlorine, bromine or iodine,

A is as defined for formula (I) and R' is as defined for R in formula (I) and can additionally be chlorine, bromine or iodine, is reacted at temperatures of 20° C. to 100° C. with an addition 65 product of hydrogen fluoride and a trialkylamine.

If R' in the starting material of formula (II) is chlorine, bromine or iodine, an α -diffuoro- β -dicarbonyl compound is obtained, i.e. a compound of formula (I) in which R is fluorine.

(see col. 1 ,line 39 to col. 2 ,line 2).

Art Unit: 1625

Examples of addition products of hydrogen fluoride and trialkylamines can be those containing 1 to 2.8 mol of hydrogen fluoride per mol of trialkylamine. This ratio is preferably 1:1.5 to 2.5 and particularly preferably 1:1.8 to 2.2.

Addition products of 3 mol of hydrogen fluoride and 1 mol of trialkylamine are often readily accessible and can be used to prepare addition products with a lower hydrogen fluoride content, even in situ, by adding the appropriate amount of free trialkylamine.

Addition products of hydrogen fluoride and trialkylamine can be used in amounts of 1 to 4 mol, for example, based on dicarbonyl compounds of formula (II). It is preferable to use 1 to 3 mol of addition product per mol of dicarbonyl compound of formula (II).

(see col. 3, lines 36-57).

However, the instant invention differs from the prior art in that the claimed reaction temperature range is different from the prior art temperature.

With respect to the difference in the reaction temperature, the claimed ranges (103-115°C) and prior art (20-100°C) do not overlap but are close enough that one skilled in the art would have expected them to have the similar reaction conditions. Therefore, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan in the art to be motivated to optimize the reaction temperature range by routine experimentation. This is because the skilled artisan in the art would expect such a manipulation to be feasible and successful as guidance shown in the prior art.
